1. Introduction

This document provides the rules that must be followed when conducting and managing a ticket raffle in British Columbia.

Ticket raffles include regular raffles, percentage draws (for example, 50/50 draws), meat draws, sports pools, sports player drafts, calendar raffles, cow pie bingos, rubber duck races, poker rides, cake walks, or other such schemes.

These Standard Procedures are a condition of the gaming event licence and apply to the gaming event licensee, gaming services providers, and all volunteer and hired staff involved in the operation of the ticket raffle.

2. Roles and Responsibilities

2.1. Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch

The branch regulates gaming in British Columbia and ensures the integrity and lawful conduct and management of gaming in the province.

This includes issuing gaming event licences to eligible organizations and ensuring licensees comply with the Criminal Code, British Columbia's Gaming Control Act (the Act) and Gaming Control Regulation, the branch's public interest standards where applicable, and the conditions of their licence.

The Assistant Deputy Minister and General Manager, hereafter referred to as the General Manager, is the head of the branch and responsible, under the direction of the Minister, for the administration of the Act.

2.2. Your organization as the gaming event licensee

Licensees must comply with Canada's Criminal Code, British Columbia's Gaming Control Act and Gaming Control Regulation, and all relevant rules, policies and standards.

The volunteer Board members of your organization are responsible for the proper conduct and management of gaming events for which they are licensed. This responsibility cannot be delegated. This includes ensuring its ticket raffles are conducted in accordance with these Standard Procedures, the Conditions of the licence, and any additional conditions imposed by the branch.

Certain duties associated with a ticket raffle cannot be delegated to other parties. At a minimum, the volunteer Board of the licensee must perform the following duties:

- Review and sign the licence application form;
- Be accountable for the proper conduct and management of all draws for all prizes. The Board may provide written delegation for a volunteer in its organization to provide oversight for prize draws valued at $1,000 or less. A Board member must oversee all draws for prizes valued at more than $1,000; and
- (Licence classes A and C): Licensees must ensure ticket purchasers are 19 years of age or older and must take appropriate action, per the rules in this document, to inform ticket purchasers that if a winning ticket bears a minor's name, the prize will be lawfully delivered on behalf of the minor to the minor's parent, legal guardian or trustee.
- Approve and sign the Gaming Event Revenue Report and Gaming Account Summary Report, if applicable.

Section 86(2) of the Gaming Control Act (GCA) requires all licensees to notify GPEB's Investigations and Regional Operations division without delay regarding any conduct, activity or incident that may be considered contrary to the Criminal Code of Canada, the Gaming Control Act or Gaming Control Regulations, or that may affect the integrity of gaming.

2.3. Gaming services providers

Licenses may contract with a gaming services provider to assist with its ticket raffle as long as the contractor is registered with the branch as a gaming services provider for that type of event.

Mail distribution services, retail or individual ticket sellers and companies that print raffle tickets are not required to be registered with the branch. A call-centre must be registered with the branch as a gaming services provider.

Contracts with gaming services providers must not exceed 12 months in duration but may include an option to renew for an additional 12 months at the discretion of the licensee. The contract must state the total contract value and specify the fees for services and must be supported by a detailed business plan. All contracts associated with a gaming event, including service contracts, must be paid out of the licensee's gaming account.

As part of the gaming records for the ticket raffle, which must be retained for a five-year period, your organization must obtain and keep on file a statement from the gaming services provider that fully discloses all of its expenses from that raffle.

3. The Gaming Event Licence

Generally, a licence is issued for a single ticket raffle where tickets are sold and winning tickets drawn during a period of time not exceeding six months. A licence may be issued for up to a 12-month period, permitting a series of ticket raffles of the same type with similar selling periods, number of tickets and price of tickets.

Class A gaming event licences are for gaming events that could potentially generate more than $20,000 in gross revenue. For ticket raffles, the three categories are:

- Registered Raffle – when anticipated gross revenue is $250,000 or more.
All licensees of registered ticket raffles must satisfy the branch's registration requirements. The minimum requirement is registration of the person in charge of the event and of the person in charge of financial accountability for the event;
- Major Raffle – when anticipated gross revenue is $100,000 or more but less than $250,000; and
- Minor Raffle – when anticipated gross revenue is more than $20,000 but less than $100,000.

A Class B gaming event licence is issued for any ticket raffle whose potential gross revenue is $20,000 or less.

Class C gaming event licences are issued to the Board of an eligible fair or exhibition.

Unless otherwise noted, standard procedures for Class A, Class B and Class C licensed ticket raffles are the same.

A Class D gaming event licence is issued for any ticket raffle whose potential gross revenue is $5,000 or less. Please see the Standard Procedures for Class D Ticket Raffles and Independent Bingos.

To conduct any form of a ticket raffle without a licence is unlawful.

3.1. Canceling or amending your gaming event licence

Cancellation of, or amendments to, your ticket raffle licence will be considered only if ticket sales have not commenced. Once tickets have been sold, the licence cannot be cancelled and amendments will not be considered.

To cancel or amend its licence, your organization must submit a written request to the branch. The request must be signed by two signing authorities, one of whom must be an officer of your organization.

3.2. Transferring or Assigning your Gaming Event Licence

A gaming event licence may not be transferred, assigned, lent or borrowed.

3.3. Requesting a conditional licence number

An applicant for a registered raffle licence may request a conditional licence number. This enables the applicant to include the licence number (which is required in all advertising, marketing and promotional materials) in the advance preparation of those materials.

The process below applies when a prize home has not been completed by the time promotional materials are scheduled for production. (Note: At the discretion of the branch a conditional licence may be provided in other circumstances as well.)

The following optional process includes two stages:

Stage One – Conditional licence number – Occupancy permit for prize home

- In its application for a registered raffle licence, the applicant requests that a conditional licence number be issued in advance of the licence.
- At its earliest convenience, the applicant will forward to the branch a copy of the local government occupancy permit or equivalent document.
- The branch may consider the prize home to be substantially complete and may present the applicant with a conditional licence number. If a conditional licence number is awarded, the conditional licence holder may wish to begin the production of materials promoting the raffle.
- The conditional licence number must be included (as if the licence had already been issued) in such materials. (Note: If a licence is issued in stage two, below, the licence will include the same [conditional] licence number issued in stage one.)
- Ticket sales and/or advertising are not permitted to begin at this stage.

Stage Two – Licence – Ready to award

- At the appropriate time, the conditional licence holder must inform the branch that the prize home is complete. A branch or other appropriate government employee may view the prize home to ensure all elements of the prize as described in the application are present, appropriately placed, and in compliance with the terms of the licence. The viewing will include the interior and exterior of the structure(s) and the attached property.
- If the branch's decision is that the prize home is ready to award, the branch will issue a licence. The registered raffle licensee is permitted to begin its promotional campaign as soon as the licence is issued.
- If the branch's decision is that the prize home is not ready to award, the branch may refuse to issue a licence.
- Until the branch decides that the prize home is ready to award, the conditional licence holder is not permitted to advertise or sell tickets. A subsequent viewing may be arranged with the branch.
- Advertising, marketing, promotion and other communication with the public or raffle stakeholders is not permitted to indicate that the branch conducts such viewings and/or endorses a prize in any way.

4. Types of Ticket Raffles

A gaming event licence may be issued for the following types of ticket raffles. Other types of raffles may be licensed if the branch is confident the gaming event complies with requirements and the integrity and accountability of the gaming event will be maintained.

4.1. Regular ticket raffles

The most common type of ticket raffle is a “regular ticket raffle.” For this type of raffle, prizewinners are determined through the drawing of counterfoils or ticket stubs from a draw container.

Ticket stubs must be identical in size, weight and shape.

Regular raffles include reverse or elimination draws, in which the prizewinners are the last counterfoils to be drawn from the container, rather than the first.

4.2. Single day raffles

For these types of raffles, ticket sales and the draw take place on a single day at a single location. A series of draws may be held on each draw date.

Bearer tickets may be used for these types of raffles if all requirements of section 8.2 are met.

Progressive draws are permitted only if all requirements of section 8.1 are met, and must be conducted on the same day of ticket sales.

4.3. Payroll deduction raffles

In a payroll deduction raffle co-workers consent to have a portion of each pay cheque deducted; one participant wins a percentage of the total money deducted. For this type of raffle, accountability requirements include documentation demonstrating the employee’s consent to the wage deduction for a specified period. This documentation is required prior to each new licence start date. Employees entered in the raffle must be advised of the raffle’s licence number and of the start and end dates. Permission from the employer is required before such a raffle may be held.

4.4. Event pools, such as sports pools, cow pie bingo or New Year’s baby

An event pool is where each ticket includes a pre-selected result of an upcoming event, or in the case of sports pools, a series of sporting events. The winner is determined by having the ticket with the selection closest to the actual event results.

Before a licence will be issued for this type of raffle, your organization must:

- Specify the period of time or series of sport events covered by the pool. Sports pools cannot be based on the outcome of a single sporting event;
- Ensure the predicted result is clearly stated;
- Demonstrate that the result is unknown during the ticket sales period;
- Identify the source of information or judge of the official result; and
- Provide detailed description of the method of determining winners and how fairness will be ensured, including the process to be used to deal with ties, no ticket matching the winning result or other disputed results.

4.5. Token raffles, such as rubber duck race, golf ball race or golf ball drop

A token raffle is where the number of each sold ticket corresponds to a number on an object or token used to determine the winners. A ticket is comprised of three parts:

- The ticket retained by the participant,
- The counterfoil or ticket stub retained by the ticket seller, and
- A corresponding token used to determine the winner. Tokens must be identical in size, weight, shape and be uniquely identified by a number corresponding to the sold ticket.

Before a licence will be issued for this type of raffle, your organization must:

- Provide a detailed description of the tokens; and
- Provide detailed description of the method of determining winners and how fairness will be ensured, including the process to be used to deal with ties or other disputed results.

4.6. Calendar raffles

Sequentially numbered tickets, or calendars numbered as tickets, are sold with various dates designated as prize days during the calendar year. Winning numbers are drawn on a specified date on or before the first prize day. Prize winners are announced on designated prize days.

4.7. Player drafts

Player drafts are licensed for the duration of a specific series of sporting events or a playing season, as well as a selling period leading up to the sporting events or season. Player drafts can be run in many different ways and with many different sports. Therefore, to be issued a licence, your organization must provide detailed rules about how its event will be conducted and managed.

5. Advertising and Promoting Your Ticket Raffle

NOTE: The following requirements were developed to address a broad range of advertising and marketing scenarios. These requirements apply to all advertising and marketing media, whether cited in this document or not. In cases not specifically covered here, it is expected that licensees will follow the spirit of the requirements.

These requirements apply to raffle licensees and service providers who advertise and/or market in the commercial media and/or on the Internet. Typically, this includes registered and major raffles; however, these requirements apply to all raffle licensees as appropriate, and to third parties.

5.1. General requirements

A ticket raffle may not be advertised until the organization has received its gaming event licence for that raffle.

For licence classes A and C: Ticket raffle advertising and promotion must state that ticket purchasers must be 19 years of age or older and that if a winning ticket bears a minor's name, the prize will be lawfully delivered on behalf of the minor to the minor's parent, legal guardian or trustee.

Ticket raffles must not be advertised or promoted, nor may tickets be sold, outside of British Columbia.

All advertising, including third-party advertising, must conform to these requirements and to the Advertising and Marketing Standards for the B.C. Gambling Industry, provided in Appendix A.

The Standards include, among other things, the requirement that advertising and marketing materials not promote gambling to minors:

- by including or portraying individuals who are, or appear to be, minors (under 19), or where the primary audience is expected to be minors.

Please see exemption for registered raffle licensees whose sole beneficiaries are minors, Section 6.1.

The Province expects that registered raffle licensees will provide a fair and clear opportunity for a prospective customer to easily find out what all the prizes are and the individual retail or fair market value of each prize.

If prior to submitting its application a registered raffle licensee's ticket control procedures have been approved by the branch's Audit and Compliance Division, the licensee may request approval to sell any ticket at either the discounted price or the single ticket price. When approved by the branch this option must be reflected in all advertising and tickets. This may include a statement to the effect that the number of tickets in each price range may change, but the total number of tickets for sale will not change.

In addition to these general requirements, certain information must be displayed in a specific, standardized format—called the standard text box—when licensees or their delegates advertise, market or promote licensed gaming events. See sections 5.2 and 5.4 for details.

Note: There is a separate set of requirements for social media.

5.6. Optional pre-approval of raffle advertising and marketing campaigns

Registered raffle licensees may request pre-approval of raffle advertising and marketing campaigns. The request may be made via e-mail to Gaming.Branch@gov.bc.ca, “Attention: Compliance Auditor.” The branch will endeavour to provide a five working day turnaround for all pre-approval requests. In order to accommodate this, the licensee must submit complete advertising/marketing materials, including a graphic of the final layout, its dimensions and planned use (i.e. newspaper, banner, etc.).

Multi-page brochures must be submitted as a complete document, and pagination and/or folds must be clearly indicated. Individual pages of a multi-page brochure will not be pre-approved separately.

A physical mock up of the brochure and/or additional information may be required to process a pre-approval request.

6. Limited Exemptions: Portraying Minors as Beneficiaries

All advertising and marketing materials, including third-party materials, must conform to the requirements in this section and to the Advertising and Marketing Standards for the BC Gambling Industry, provided in Appendix A, including the protection of minors.

The Province reserves the right to review any of a licensee’s related products in advance of their use to ensure compliance with provincial standards and the exemptions outlined in sections 6.1 and 6.2.

Each licensee’s performance regarding the use of minors will be routinely monitored and their licence revoked if necessary.

6.1. Exemption for non-gaming advertising and marketing

Licensees may use images of minors in materials that promote their charitable organization (i.e. annual reports, thank you letters to donors, etc.) but which are not related to the advertising and marketing of a gaming event. These materials may generally describe the beneficiaries of the licensee’s gaming revenues and depict any of the specific beneficiaries of the licensee’s gaming event, subject to the conditions below.

When organizational materials include images of minors on pages where gaming is referred to, the materials:

- Must adhere to the Advertising and Marketing standards issued by the Province;
- Must be approved in writing in advance by the Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch;
- Must not appear at any point of sale; and
- Must not include any reference to marketing, sale or purchase of any lottery or gaming products.
- May include images of beneficiaries in an appropriate and relevant setting. In general, images should be of large groups. Images of individual minors will be acceptable only if it can be demonstrated that no large-group images are possible and appropriate;
- May include the licensee’s brand and/or logo and refer to the beneficiaries; and
- May appear on website pages operated by the licensee or a partner organization providing the pages contain material related only to beneficiaries of the licensee’s programs and no material promoting sale or purchase of any gaming products. Website pages operated by any organization with which the licensee has a relationship (e.g.: a partner organization) or any of that organization’s communication materials (e.g.: newsletters), may not use images of minors in relationship to, or in the vicinity of, gaming products or related materials.

6.2. Exemption for gaming advertising and marketing where the licensee's sole beneficiaries are minors.

This exemption applies only to registered raffle licensees whose sole beneficiaries are minors and who have received formal written approval to that effect in advance from the branch.

The above licensees may, photographically or in similar graphic ways, depict in certain advertising and marketing tools minors and related people or objects relevant to the organization's purpose, subject to the following requirements:

- The depiction of each minor must be supported with previously obtained full, written, legal permission signed by each minor's parent or guardian. This document must explicitly grant permission for the minor to be depicted in lottery advertising, marketing and promotion. Each permission document is to be held on file by the licensee;
- The depiction of minors is limited to one page (that is not the front cover) of any brochure insert, mail-out, calendar, envelope, flyer inserted in a newspaper, and/or web site. Raffle advertising, promotion or marketing must not occur on that page. No other media are permitted in this exemption, including but not limited to TV ads, radio ads, newspaper ads, printed posters, banners and billboards;
- The depiction shows a minor(s) in a health care or similar setting that shows the manner in which proceeds will serve the minor's needs;
- Each depiction of minors in the proposed advertising tool is approved, in writing in advance, by the Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch; and
- The licensee complies with all other requirements in these Standard Procedures and related documents, with one exception: If the page on which a minor is depicted is the back cover of, for example, a brochure, the standard text box placement required in Section 5.4 is waived; i.e. the standard text box will be required only on the cover and on the order form page.

7. Responsible Gambling Standards

The Province of British Columbia is committed to ensuring gambling activities are carried out in a socially responsible manner. The Province has developed "Responsible Gambling Standards for the BC Gambling Industry." The Responsible Gambling Standards focus on ensuring that:

- The industry engages in responsible advertising and promotion (in concert with the Province's Advertising and Marketing Standards);
- Minors are prevented from gambling;
- Patrons have the necessary information with which to make informed choices related to gambling;
- Persons negatively affected by gambling have access to timely and effective information and assistance;
- Gambling-related risks are minimized through responsible practices;
- Customers are made aware of key financial transaction policies; and
- Voluntary self-exclusion programs are available.

Standards 1, 2.2, 2.3, 4.1, 4.2 and 4.4 apply to gaming event licensees.

The complete Responsible Gambling Standards for the BC Gambling Industry can be found at: <https://www.gaming.gov.bc.ca/responsible-gambling/docs/stds-responsible-gambling.pdf>

8. Preparing Your Tickets

Where tickets are sold and used to determine a winner, tickets must be consecutively numbered with an identifiable beginning and end.

Only the number of tickets approved for a gaming event licence shall be offered for sale.

8.1. Content of the ticket

Each ticket must have two separate parts, each detachable from the other. One portion of the ticket is retained by the purchaser of the ticket and the other portion is retained by the ticket seller.

Token raffles, referenced in section 4.5, have a third part for each ticket used to determine the raffle winner.

Part 1 of the ticket, to be retained by the person buying the ticket, must include:

- Name and address of the licensee and year-round contact phone number;
- Gaming event licence number, to be shown as "BC Gaming Event Licence #_____";
- Location, date and time of all draws, including early bird draws;
- Sequential number of the ticket;
- Number of tickets printed in each price category;
- Price of the ticket;
- Statement of required presence at the draw as a condition of winning, if applicable;
- Statement of participants' responsibility for the cost of prize delivery, if applicable; and
- The words "Winners consent to the release of their names by the licensee."
- (Licence classes A and C): The statement, "Ticket purchasers must be 19 years of age or older. If a winning ticket bears a minor's name, the prize will be lawfully delivered on behalf of the minor to the minor's parent, legal guardian or trustee."

Part 2 of the ticket, which is retained by the ticket seller and referred to as the counterfoil or ticket stub, must include:

- Place for the name, address and telephone number of the ticket purchaser;
- Gaming event licence number, to be shown as "BC Gaming Event Licence #_____"; and
- Sequential number of the ticket.

Where a series of raffles is conducted under a single licence, tickets for each raffle must be differentiated from the other tickets used in the series (i.e., unique ticket numbers or ticket colours).

Tickets may be printed in any language, if approved by the branch before the gaming event licence was issued. For pre-approval, an English translation by a certified member of the Society of Translators and Interpreters of British Columbia must be submitted.

8.2. Commercially pre-printed tickets (bearer tickets) for single-day raffles

Commercially printed tickets (known as bearer tickets--usually rolls of double-printed tickets in varying colours) are commonly used for meat draws and 50/50 draws, but cannot be used for progressive draws.

Commercially pre-printed and consecutively numbered tickets are permitted under the following circumstances only:

- Tickets are sold and the draw is conducted on the same day at a single location; and
- Ticket buyers are present to claim their prize. If a ticket holder is not present to claim the prize during the draw, additional ticket stubs or counterfoils must be drawn until the prize can be awarded.
- If a series of draws are conducted on a single day, the tickets sold for each draw must be uniquely identifiable from tickets sold for other draws conducted on the same day.

8.3. Discounted Tickets

Registered raffles

Discounted tickets are those sold in groups (e.g., 3 for $10, 10 for $25). To ensure financial accountability is maintained these tickets must be printed as a separate series with sequential numbers for each price category.

If prior to submitting its application a registered raffle licensee's ticket control procedures have been approved by the branch's Audit and Compliance Division, the licensee may request approval to sell any ticket at either the discounted price or the single ticket price. When approved by the branch this option must be reflected in all advertising and tickets. This may include a statement to the effect that the number of tickets in each price range may change, but the total number of tickets for sale will not change. Registered raffle licensees must state in their request the maximum potential gross revenues of the raffle. Licensees also must maintain a written reconciliation, by selling price, of tickets sold.

Non-registered raffles

Discounted tickets are those sold in groups (e.g., 3 for $10, 10 for $25). To ensure financial accountability is maintained, these tickets must be:

- A different ticket colour for each price category; or
- A separate series of sequential numbers for each price category.

Discounted tickets cannot be split and sold separately. Single tickets must be sold for the price indicated on the ticket and cannot be sold as discounted tickets. Licensees must maintain a written reconciliation, by selling price, of tickets sold.

9. Selling Your Tickets

Raffle tickets may not be sold until the organization has been issued a gaming event licence for that raffle.

Raffle tickets must be sold for the price indicated on the ticket. For raffles using bearer tickets, all tickets must be sold for the price approved by the gaming event licence.

A copy of the gaming event licence including amendments and the rules of play for the raffle must be posted or available during ticket sales and at each selling venue.

Tickets may be sold for cash, credit card, certified cheque, Interac or money order. If payment is made by a non-certified cheque or a credit card that is manually processed, the ticket stub or counterfoil cannot be included in any draw until the payment clears.

Members of your organization responsible for the conduct and management of the ticket raffle and employees of contracted gaming services providers are not permitted to purchase tickets for that raffle.

Tickets must not be distributed to persons who have not agreed to sell or buy them.

Class A gaming event licensees may pay a fee or commission to ticket sellers not exceeding 10 per cent of each ticket sold. Any such amount is considered an expense.

9.1. Maintaining your ticket inventory

Your organization must be able to account for all tickets, whether sold or unsold. As part of its gaming records, which must be retained for five years, your organization must retain:

- The purchase invoice for all tickets. If your tickets are obtained from a printing company, the invoice must specify the first and last of the sequential numbers of the tickets for each series of tickets;
- A record by ticket number and series of all sold and unsold tickets; and
- A record of tickets distributed for sale and returned.

Tickets must be retained as follows:

- All ticket stubs or counterfoils, and unsold tickets, must be retained for two years or until the branch has audited that particular raffle, whichever comes first.
- Bearer tickets and stubs need not be retained, except for winning tickets.

9.2. Restrictions for minors (under the age of 19)

Under a Class A or Class C gaming event licence:

- Tickets must not be sold to a person under the age of 19; and
- Minors may not sell tickets on behalf of your organization.

If your organization has a Class B gaming event licence, it may not sell tickets to a minor unless the minor is:

- 13 years of age or older; or
- Accompanied by an adult who is apparently the minor's parent or guardian and who consents to the sale.

A minor may not sell tickets for a Class B licensed gaming event unless the ticket value is not more than $5 and the minor is doing so as a volunteer.

9.3. Sales not permitted via the Internet

Purchase and sale of raffle tickets via the internet is not permitted by the Criminal Code of Canada.

Internet web sites may be used to receive orders for the purchase of tickets if:

- The web site is used only to accept orders to purchase tickets; and
- The address of the potential ticket purchaser is confirmed to be within British Columbia.

9.4. Sales not permitted outside of British Columbia

The entire payment transaction must take place in British Columbia. Orders for tickets must not be accepted from, or processed for, persons located outside the province at time of purchase.

A non-resident of British Columbia may purchase a ticket if the entire payment transaction takes place while the person is in British Columbia and if the ticket or a receipt is issued at that time. If a receipt is issued, the licensee must as soon as possible mail the confirmation of ticket numbers purchased to the purchaser at the out-of-province address provided. If for any reason the purchaser does not receive the confirmation by the time of the draw, the receipt will count as a valid confirmation of the ticket purchase.

Tickets or receipts must not be distributed to, mailed or otherwise sent to a non-resident's third-party address in B.C.

10. Revenue from Ticket Sales

If your organization has a gaming bank account, all cash or cash equivalent proceeds from the ticket raffle must be deposited into the gaming account as soon as possible following receipt of those funds.

Funds received through credit card purchases must be deposited to the gaming account as soon as is practicable after receipt.

If your organization generates $20,000 or less in gross revenue annually through licensed gaming events and does not have a gaming account, it must deposit all cash or cash equivalent proceeds from the ticket raffle to a bank account bearing your organization's full name.

For more information, please refer to:

- Section 12 of the Guidelines for Applying for a Class A or Class B Gaming Event Licence; and

- The section titled, “Financial Control and Audit Requirements” of the Conditions for a Class A or Class B Gaming Event Licence.”

11. Ticket Raffle Expenses

Actual and reasonable expenses directly related to the conduct and management of a ticket raffle may be paid from your organization’s gaming account.

The expense calculation must include all raffle related expenses, whether initially paid for with gaming funds or, as in the case of staff salaries, from an organization’s general account. In the latter case, the gaming account must reimburse the general account for the raffle expenses, and the expenses must be reflected in the Gaming Event Revenue Report.

Receipts documenting exact amount of each expense must be retained as part of the gaming records for the ticket raffle.

Registered raffles (anticipated gross revenue of $250,000 or more): There is no limit on the amount paid for expenses. However, if a licensee operates two successive registered ticket raffles that lose money, the branch will not issue a registered raffle licence to that licensee for a period of at least one year from the licence date of the second failed raffle.

The ban will apply whether a licensee operates independently or with a partner(s).

All raffles other than registered raffles (anticipated gross revenue less than $250,000): Expenses must not exceed 25 per cent of the actual gross revenue of the ticket raffle. Prize costs are not included in the 25 per cent maximum expense calculation.

As appropriate, permitted expenses for all licensees include, but are not limited to:

- Advertising and promotion costs attributable to the raffle;
- Wages and salaries of staff attributable to the raffle;
- Ticket and other printing costs attributable to the raffle;
- Postage/ mailing costs directly related to the raffle;
- Rent for venue(s) used for your raffle;
- Contract fees for gaming services providers or accounting firms attributable to the raffle;
- Processing fee for gaming event licence;
- Costs related to prizes, such as transporting the prizes to ticket selling venues, repair and maintenance of the prize, or insurance for the prize;
- Fees or commissions paid to ticket sellers, which cannot exceed 10 per cent of the price of each ticket sold; and
- Volunteer out-of-pocket expenses. Volunteers may be reimbursed for out-of-pocket expenses related to the gaming event but cannot be paid remuneration for their time committed to the gaming event. The licensee must retain receipts for volunteer out-of-pocket expenses with its gaming records.

Expenses must not be calculated as a percentage of ticket sales revenue.

No costs, including taxes, may be charged to the winner(s) or claimed as an expense for the transfer of property or title into the winner's name. All taxes are included in the cost of prizes.

11.1. Donated Expenses

Donated expenses are services such as ticket printing that may be provided to your organization from a third party at no cost. Donated expenses are not reported on the Gaming Event Revenue Report and are not included in the 25 per cent expenses calculation.

12. Awarding of Prizes

Draws may only be held on the locations, dates and times specified in the gaming event licence or approved amendment. All draws must be open to all ticket holders, who shall be entitled to be present at the draw without additional charge.

All prizes offered in the ticket raffle must be awarded as advertised and as approved when the gaming event licence was issued.

The total number of prizes advertised and awarded must be the same as the total number of winning tickets drawn.

Each ticket purchased by a draw cut-off date must have the same chance to win in that draw.

A copy of the current approved licence, amendments and the rules for the raffle must be posted or available during sales and at the time and locations of the draws.

12.1. Selecting the prize winners

Before conducting the draw, your organization must:

- Ensure each sold ticket forms part of the draw; and
- Reconcile the number of sold tickets and unsold tickets with the number of counterfoils in the draw container, to ensure that only eligible tickets form part of the draw.

The sequence of drawing to award prizes must be announced before the draw starts.

Where the method of selecting the winner is by drawing a counterfoil from a barrel or some other form of container, the following requirements must be met:

- The person responsible for selecting winning counterfoils:
 - Must be 19 years of age or older;
 - Cannot own a ticket or own a share of a ticket in the draw;
 - Must not wear jewelry or clothing on the arm reaching into the container; the arm must be bare from the elbow to the hand;
 - Must not be able to see the printed information on counterfoils in the container; and
 - Must select the counterfoils in a manner in which the witnesses are satisfied that the person is not influencing the outcome of the draw.
- Immediately before the draw commences, the counterfoils must be mixed thoroughly in a random manner;
- The barrel or other form of container must meet the following requirements:
Must be well maintained and in good working order;
Must be of adequate size to accommodate the volume of tickets and to allow thorough mixing of the tickets; and

For registered and major ticket raffles, the draw container must be transparent or constructed so that tickets can be seen from the outside.

- One counterfoil is to be drawn at a time; and
- If a previously drawn counterfoil is returned for a chance at other prizes, the counterfoil must be replaced in the container and the counterfoils mixed thoroughly. Otherwise, the counterfoils must be mixed – at a minimum – after 10 counterfoils have been drawn.
- Ticket purchasers must be aware of, and have free and easy access to, each draw, which must be conducted in a public place.

For single-day raffles please refer to Section 12.4 for detailed information.

Winning counterfoils or tokens must be exhibited to the witnesses and be held open for inspection until the end of the draw or until verified and returned to the draw container to be eligible for additional prizes.

Winners cannot be determined on or through a computer or by other electronic means, such as random number generators.

12.2. Early bird draws

Early bird draws, if permitted by the gaming event licence, must conform to all requirements in section 12.1.

12.3. Recording the prize winners

At the time of the draws, a list of winners must be completed, signed and witnessed by at least two volunteers, at least one of whom is a board member or delegate (as detailed in section 2.2) from your organization. The list must contain the:

- Date and time of the draw;
- Record of each ticket stub or counterfoil drawn;
- Ticket serial number; and
- Name, address and telephone number of the prizewinner.

This list must be retained as part of your organization's gaming records.

12.4. Notifying the prize winners

Your organization is responsible for contacting, and must make every reasonable effort to notify, prize winners.

Within 10 days of the selection of prize winners, with the exception of calendar and single day raffles, your organization must:

- Notify prize winners of the results of the ticket raffle draw in person, by telephone, or if required, by registered mail. This notice must explain how the prize can be claimed; and
- Make public the winners' names, ticket numbers and prizes won. This documentation must include the draw date of the ticket raffle, your organization's name and the BC Gaming Event Licence number. This information must also be made available to any member of the public upon request.

For calendar raffles only:

- Winners are drawn on a single, specified date and prize-winners subsequently announced on prize days designated within the calendar over the course of the year.
- Within 10 days of each specified prize day, your organization must:
 - Notify the prize winner in person, by telephone, or if required, by registered mail. This notice must explain how the prize can be claimed.
 - Make public the winner's name, calendar number and prizes won. This documentation must include the specified prize day, your organization's name and the BC Gaming Event Licence number. This information must also be made available to any member of the public upon request.

For single-day raffles using bearer tickets, the draw must occur when ticket buyers are likely to be present to claim the prize. If a winning ticket holder is not identified in the first draw, additional tickets must be drawn in one of two ways:

- Additional tickets are drawn at the event until a winner is identified, or
- When pre-approved by the branch, additional tickets are drawn at the original draw location during another licensed draw on another date within a 12-month period. This could be a "bonus" draw at which the unclaimed prize(s) are added to the prize of another, similar draw conducted when the same purchasers might be present. Approval will be considered only in cases where time restrictions due to the event being televised prevent a re-draw after the first draw. (For example, at televised hockey games, 50/50 draws in the arena must be announced during a single commercial break. There is not enough time during that break to conduct and announce a re-draw, so a re-draw must be held at a subsequent game.)

Signing for prizes: For registered raffles, winners must sign for the prize when its fair market value is greater than $1,000. For all other raffles, winners must sign for the prize when its fair market value is greater than $100.

When a winner is determined to be under the age of 19, the licensee must ensure the prize is lawfully delivered on behalf of the minor to the minor's parent, legal guardian or trustee.

12.5. Restricted prizes

Liquor, live animals and prohibited or restricted firearms, as defined in the Firearms Act (Canada), must not be offered as prizes.

Where non-restricted firearms are used as prizes, your organization must adhere to all federal and provincial regulations regarding the storage and transfer of firearms.

12.6. Unclaimed Prizes

A list of unclaimed prizes must be retained with the gaming records for the raffle. If your organization is required to submit a Gaming Event Revenue Report, the list of unclaimed prizes must be submitted with it.

Unclaimed prizes must be secured or placed in safekeeping for a period of one year from the date of the draw. If at that time the prize has not been claimed, the prize or cash equivalent to the fair market value of the prize must be donated to a beneficiary approved by the branch.

13. Financial Control and Audit Requirements

Your organization is responsible for ensuring that all requirements outlined in the conditions for its gaming event licence are met. This includes keeping complete and accurate records of the raffle and submitting, if required, a Gaming Event Revenue Report within 90 days after the expiry of the licence.

Where two or more organizations form a partnership to conduct a gaming event, a single Gaming Event Revenue Report signed by all partner organizations must be submitted. A separate sheet must also be submitted indicating how the net proceeds are to be distributed amongst the partners. Each partner must then indicate its split on its Gaming Account Summary Report.

13.1. Access to gaming records

As a condition of its licence, your organization must ensure the branch has reasonable access to the premises where the ticket sales and draw(s) are held. As well, your organization must provide the branch access to all gaming records and allow the branch to copy or remove records at the its discretion.

Your organization must retain all gaming records related to its ticket raffle for a period of five years from the end of the fiscal year in which the net proceeds were disbursed. Gaming records include all financial records, cancelled cheques, bank statements, bank transaction receipts, invoices and sale receipts, records of tickets sold, records of unsold tickets, records of ticket stubs or counterfoils, and all receipts from the disbursement of gaming revenue. All unsold tickets (except bearer tickets) and ticket stubs or counterfoils must be retained for two years or until the branch has audited that particular raffle, whichever comes first.

14. Public Complaints Concerning the Conduct of Ticket Raffles

Your organization is encouraged to deal with all complaints in a fair and equitable manner.

Complaints regarding the conduct and management of the raffle may also be submitted, in writing, to the Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch.

Written complaints will be reviewed by the branch and when a possible breach is identified, it will be brought to your organization's attention for remediation.

15. Failure to Comply with Standard Procedures

Where, in the opinion of the General Manager, any of these procedures are not satisfactorily met by a licensee, its agents or employees, the General Manager may suspend or cancel the gaming event licence; vary existing, or impose new, conditions on the gaming event licence; freeze the gaming account and assets; impose a fine on the licensee; and/or refuse to issue the licensee another gaming grant or a gaming event licence.

Additional penalties may also be imposed under section 98 of the Gaming Control Act.

Appendix A: Advertising and Marketing Standards for Gambling in British Columbia

Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch

ADVERTISING AND MARKETING STANDARDS FOR GAMBLING IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Context

The Province of British Columbia wants to ensure gambling activities are carried out in a socially responsible manner. The Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch regulates gambling in B.C.

Authority and Application

Section 27(2)(d) of the Gaming Control Act authorizes the General Manager of the Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch to establish public interest standards for the gambling industry. The following advertising and marketing standards apply to products and/or gaming facilities promoted by BC Lottery Corporation, gaming service providers, and gaming event licensees. These standards do not apply to corporate advertising which does not include references to, or promote, products and/or gaming facilities.

As an agent of government, the BC Lottery Corporation conducts and manages most commercial gaming in the province, including casinos, commercial bingo halls, community gaming centres, and lotteries. The Corporation contracts with gaming services providers to operate those gaming facilities.

Private companies are licensed, as gaming services providers, to operate horse race tracks and tele-theatre outlets.

Community organizations may be licensed to conduct gaming events, such as ticket raffles, independent bingos, social occasion casinos, and wheels of fortune.

All advertising related to gambling is expected to abide by provincial standards of conduct as outlined in this document. Furthermore, organizations are expected to abide by any additional marketing and advertising standards published in relevant Gaming Policy and Enforcement Branch standard procedure documents.

Objectives

- To ensure gambling is represented in a responsible manner in all advertising and marketing.
- To ensure that targeted media campaigns enhance public awareness of both responsible and problem gambling issues and services.

Advertising and Marketing Standards

Any advertising or marketing of a gaming event or scheme must be displayed in compliance with applicable laws and policies and must not be immoral or obscene in any way. Any depiction of a dominant characteristic of which is the undue exploitation of sex, or of sex, and any one or more of the following subjects, namely, crime, horror, cruelty and violence, shall be deemed to be obscene.

In cases not specifically covered in this document, it is expected that the spirit of the requirements will be followed.

Responsible Gambling

- Advertising and marketing materials must, as deemed reasonable and appropriate by GPEB, contain a responsible gambling message. Questions related to reasonable and appropriate messaging should be directed to GPEB's Director, Responsible and Problem Gambling.
- The Province's responsible/problem gambling materials and information about how a problem gambler may obtain help must be easily visible - in high traffic areas of gaming facilities, on electronic media pages such as PlayNow.com where gambling is promoted, at locations where gaming products are being sold, or (when requested) at licensed gaming events.
- Responsible and problem gambling messaging must reflect the demographic targeted by the advertising and marketing materials/activities. Responsible and problem gambling messaging must be presented in the same language as the language of the advertisement.
- Advertising and marketing materials must not:
 - Encourage people to play beyond their means;
 - Imply the certainty of financial reward or alleviation of personal and financial difficulties;
 - Present gambling as an alternative to employment or as a financial investment;
 - Encourage play as a means of recovering past gambling or other financial losses;
 - Imply that chances of winning increase the longer one plays;
 - Suggest skill, practice and experience, individually or together, can ensure a positive outcome;
 - Knowingly depict inappropriate use of the product(s) or be placed in, or adjacent to, other media that depict inappropriate use of the product(s); or depict a pre-occupation with gambling.

Odds of Winning

- Information on the odds of winning must be clearly stated and made available to the public through relatively accessible means.
- Information on the odds of winning must factually report the chances of winning in various gambling activities.
- Advertising and marketing materials must:
 - Not present winning as the most probable outcome, nor misrepresent a person's chance of winning a prize; and
 - Describe prize amounts accurately, indicating, where necessary, if prizes are in the form of annuities.

Protecting Minors

Minors are defined as youth and/or children under the legal purchase age of 19.

- Advertising and marketing materials must not:
 - Use individuals who are, or appear to be, minors to promote gambling;
 - Appear in media directed primarily to minors, or where most of the audience is reasonably expected to be minors;
 - Appear on outdoor displays that are directly adjacent to schools or other primarily youth-oriented locations;

- Appear at venues where the primary audience is reasonably expected to be minors;
- Be based on themes, or use language, intended to appeal primarily to minors;
- Promote gambling in television or radio programming whose primary audience is expected to be minors; or
- Contain cartoon figures, symbols, role models, and/or celebrity/entertainer endorsers whose primary appeal is to minors.

Responsibilities of the Licensees:

- All electronic raffle systems must be approved and certified by the GPEB’s Registration and Certification Division. Each new installation must be inspected prior to the system being used, before the conduct of the first licensed event.
- The Licensee is at all times responsible for the conduct and management of the event regardless if a registered service provider is hired as is detailed in Section 2.3 of the Standard Procedures for Ticket Raffles. Licensees must be aware of and comply with Section 2.2.
- The number of supervisory and management staff must be sufficient to support the ticket sellers and they must have a level of expertise and requisite training to operate the electronic system.
- Immediately report technical malfunctions, service interruptions, system changes or other equipment problems to GPEB’s Registration and Certification Division by email to: GPEB75Reporting@gov.bc.ca
- Licensees have a legal requirement to notify GPEB immediately about any conduct, activity or incident that may be contrary to the Criminal Code of Canada, the Gaming Control Act or the Gaming Control Regulations, or that may affect the integrity of Gaming. Reports can be made in the following ways:
 - Calling GPEB’s toll free number at 1-877-660-8850;
 - Filling out a Criminal or Regulatory Complaint report on-line at <https://www.gaming.gov.bc.ca/gaming/inv/complaint.do>; or
 - Emailing one of GPEB’s regional offices, stating your name and contact information, when and where the incident occurred, who was involved, what occurred, and any additional documentation.

Training of Volunteers

- Designate one individual who will act as the system administrator. This individual must have a level of expertise and requisite training in the operation of the ERS hardware and software (event setup, reports generation, troubleshooting, etc).
- The administrator has overall responsibility for the operation of the event.
- Ticket sellers must be appropriately trained in the operation of the electronic raffle hardware and software.

Facility and Outdoor Requirements

- If the electronic raffle system relies on computer networks and/or wireless (WIFI) service provided by the facility, the equipment must be housed in a permanent, secured location and the network must be stable.
- A designated representative of the facility who is able to address technical problems must be available before and during the draw to provide technical support for the networks.
- Electronic equipment utilized at an outdoor event must be located in a non-public, supervised area during the operation of the raffle.

Operational ProceduresRaffle Tickets

- Tickets may NOT be pre-sold or pre-printed for sale during the event.
- Electronic raffle tickets must display:
 - Appropriate responsible gambling messaging;
 - when the draw is to take place;
 - where and when to claim a prize;
 - that a ticket purchaser must be 19+ years of age to participate; and
 - the BC gambling lottery event licence number.

House Rules

- House Rules must be posted at stationary selling sites and where available on your organizations website.
- House rules must include:
 - Information on the cost of tickets, where and when to present a winning ticket, the procedure that will be followed if there is a prize split (i.e. a drawn ticket contains two numbers);
 - a procedure to deal with any situation that causes a delay or prevents a draw from occurring. The procedure must indicate when the substitute draw will take place, how ticket buyers will be notified, how refunds can be obtained etc.;
 - a procedure for dealing with complaints; and
 - an indication that ticket buyers must be 19 or older to participate.
- If a House Rule conflicts with these Standard Procedures, it is the Standard Procedures that must be followed.

Equipment

- The equipment must be set up prior to the event, and the system administrator must verify that the system is functioning properly, the networks are connected and the game is configured specific to the event (name, date, etc).
- Volunteers are not permitted to restart mobile devices/tablets or otherwise adjust the equipment during the raffle without system administrator or designate oversight.
- If for any reason the electronic system does not function properly prior to the selling of any tickets, the licensee must revert to a paper ticket based system.
- The system administrator must be present to deal with any equipment or personnel issues.
- Only electronic equipment certified or approved by GPEB's Registration and Certification Division is permitted.

- A transparent ticket barrel must be used that is large enough to accommodate the proper mixing of tickets prior to the draw.

Conducting the Draw

- A printed ticket and draw barrel system must be used. The use of a random number generator for the determination of the winning ticket is NOT permitted.
- If the draw is conducted and shown live on a large-scale video display, verification of the winning ticket number must take place either while the number is visible on the screen or within several minutes of the draw.
- The winning ticket number must be publically displayed until the winner comes forward or for the duration of an advertised waiting period, which is set by the Licensee in consultation with GPEB. If the prize is unclaimed at the end of the waiting period, a new ticket must be drawn.
- If the electronic equipment fails to function properly for any reason during the raffle selling period and the integrity of the ticket reconciliation cannot be verified, the draw must not take place until a proper reconciliation is completed and it is verified that all tickets sold have been properly printed into the draw barrel.

Advertising

- Display terminals, promotional materials and raffle images on large-scale video displays must include appropriate responsible gambling messaging. See Section 5 of the Standard Procedures for Ticket Raffles.

Financial Controls

- The licensee must retain 50/50 counterfoil tickets (draw barrel) for one month after awarding the prize to the winner or until any reported incidents have been resolved.
- Server data and electronic reports/records (ticket #'s, sales, printer reports, etc.) must be retained and stored externally from the server on durable electronic media (i.e. CD), and be available for five years following the end of the licence period.
- Reconciliation reports must be run after each draw and reviewed and retained.

Note:

Guidelines pertaining to Multiple Event Raffles have not been developed as the Branch has not yet approved these types of events.

A multiple event raffle is a raffle conducted over the course of more than one day and/or at more than one event and/or at more than one location.
